

EU-Africa cooperation in Research & Innovation

As a strategic partner, the EU seeks to enhance cooperation with Africa to promote actions targeted to finding locally adapted solutions to challenges that are global in nature, but which often hit Africa hardest.

The Comprehensive Strategy with Africa, and the Global Approach to Research & Innovation, are the EU's most recent policy initiatives that prioritise Research & Innovation as a key dimension of sustainable development.

The African Union – European Union High Level Policy Dialogue (HLPD) on Science, Technology and Innovation is the policy forum where regular exchanges on research and innovation policy take place between both continents and where long-term priorities to strengthen cooperation are decided.

Four policy priorities for EU-AU cooperation in Research & Innovation

Horizon Europe and the Africa Initiative

The Africa Initiative is part of the first Work Programme of Horizon Europe (2021-2022) and comprises a package of 36 topics with a budget of around €350 million under Calls for Proposals. The calls for proposals require or encourage participation of African entities. Topics support the implementation of the four jointly identified policy priorities for AU-EU R&I cooperation and range from climate change, rural innovation, sustainable food systems and sustainable energy to bringing European highly innovative SMEs to the forefront of African markets.

Research and Innovation

Bilateral Science and Technology agreements.

The EU has bilateral agreements with 20 individual countries around the world. These agreements are based on common interests and priorities, aiming to increase cooperation in research and innovation. In Africa these countries currently are: Algeria, Egypt, Morocco, South Africa and Tunisia. Tunisia and Morocco are Horizon Europe candidate associated countries, while Tunisia has successfully completed the formal association negotiations allowing it to become associated to Horizon Europe. Morocco is expected to become associated to Horizon Europe as well.

What's next?

The EU and the AU are jointly developing an Innovation Agenda, a shared technical arrangement for cooperation to transform and increase the innovative capacities and achievements of European and African researchers and innovators into tangible outputs, supporting sustainable growth and jobs. The EU-AU Summit in 2022 offers the opportunity to acknowledge the Innovation Agenda.
